MacArthur's Condition Waning Some

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur's condition has in general "deteriorated in the past 24 hours," Walter Reed Army Hospital announced today. But it said the general passed a "peaceful night."

A medical bulletin at 10:15 a.m. added that there has been a "slight drop in the blood pressure and a moderate rise in the pulse rate" of the general and that his kidney function — a complicating factor in his present condition — has "diminished progressively over the past 24 hours."

The bulletin said pressure in the tube inserted in the general's esophagus and stomach "will be released this morning."

This tube is used to control intermittent bleeding from the esophagus. The bulletin did not say specifically that the bleeding has been stopped entirely, but the fact that pressure applied through the tube, by means of inflated balloons, to the walls of the esophagus and of the stomach would appear to indicate the bleeding has stopped at least temporarily.

As late as Tuesday night the doctors were paying tribute to the "strength and fiber" of the 84-year-old patient and reporting he was holding his own.

They said his heart beat and other vital signs were steady, though his condition was still critical.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur has suffered a "further waning" of his heart and kidney function, Walter Reed Army Hospital announced today.

McMath Would Run If Nobody Does

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Sid McMath said today that if Gov. Orval E. Faubus runs for a sixth term, McMath would seriously consider getting into the Democratic primary race himself.

"I think it would be tragic not to have a Democratic primary in the governor's race," McMath said. "If Gov. Faubus does not run, I wouldn't consider running."

"However, if he does run," McMath said, "I would give it serious consideration. There are issues that need to be debated. The gubernatorial primary is one of the effective instruments we have for debating issues as well as for the nomination of a governor," McMath said.

McMath was second in a field of six in the 1962 primary, in which Faubus won re-election with 208,266 votes. McMath received 83,473. There was no runoff.

Dale Alford, the third man in that race with 82,815, has said he will not run if Faubus runs.

GOPs Deny Weakening on Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp denial that Republican senators will back "weakening amendments" to the controversial civil rights bill came today from Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

The New York Republican, a leader in the bipartisan group now trying to push the House-passed measure through the Senate, flatly denied reports "that Republicans in the Senate will take this administration 'off the hook' by insisting on certain amendments to the bill."

With debate now in its 20th day and showdown decisions apparently far in the future, Javits and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., teamed up to explain and support the "public facilities" section of the complex measure.

This part of the bill aims at making it easier to end racial discrimination in parks, golf courses, swimming pools, art museums and other government owned or operated facilities.

Supreme Court decisions and existing federal laws ban such discrimination but court tests or similar action to bring compliance now must be started and usually financed by individuals or groups.

Senators got advance notice Wednesday that the daily session will lengthen next week.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., indicated that supporters of the bill have mapped a program of bipartisan speeches in support of it running through April 15 and probably beyond.

And he and other senators backing the bill told a leadership conference of civil rights supporters Wednesday that they now lack the 67 votes required to clamp a limit on Senate debate and force voting.

Dismisses Suit on Bond Issue

JASPER, Ark. (AP) — Chancellor Ernie Wright dismissed Wednesday a suit that attacked a bond issue passed by voters in a special election here Dec. 10.

The suit, filed by A. H. Raney and Weldon Leggett, contended the 5-mill tax levy to retire the bonds was not authorized by the state constitution.

Wright's order allows County Judge Roy Raulston to proceed with construction of a $250,000 county hospital and nursing unit.

Complacent American Wives Nowadays Allow Their Dear Husbands Fairly Long Leash

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Am I henpecked? How can a man tell if he is henpecked?"

A young fellow new to the double harness routine asked me these questions recently. They rather took me aback—they seemed so old-fashioned. It was almost as if someone had suddenly inquired seriously "Do you favor a protective tariff on high-button shoes?"

American wives, by and large tend to feel rather complacent that they allow their husbands a pretty long leash. European men and women, on the other hand, are convinced that all American husbands are abject slaves of their wives.

The truth probably lies pretty well in between, although no one can question the rise of feminine authority in this country. This is shown by the widespread decline in wife-beating, now a vanished art.

In most households today a man would even rather try to whip his teen-age kids than risk a right to his queen bee's chin. But there are positive ways to tell how henpecked a husband is. Here's a guide. He is more of a mouse than a man if—

He never cashes his own paycheck.

Johnson Leaves No Room for a Compromise

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently is giving his legislative lieutenants little room to maneuver toward any compromise that might insure Senate passage of the civil rights bill.

The President was described by close associates today as being hard-rock firm against any changes in the House-passed measure. They said he has maintained this attitude in private strategy conferences as well as in his public statements.

Johnson, an expert on how to get things done in the Senate, is said to have told the bill's managers they should plan for eventual around-the-clock sessions in an attempt to break a Southern filibuster.

The President reportedly has little hope that Dixie opponents will ever permit passage of the legislation without the invoking of the cloture rule. This means that two-thirds of those voting would have to approve applying a debate limitation.

Therein lies the dilemma of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager for the bill, and the Democrats and Republicans who are backing his efforts to bring it to a vote.

There is no practical way — and Humphrey is the first to admit it — of getting the necessary two-thirds vote unless Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is willing to go along.

Dirksen wants some changes in vital sections of the bill. He has said he will propose about a dozen amendments to the provision dealing with fair employment practices but has no wish to "emasculate" it.

He also is expected to offer a substitute to a section banning racial discrimination in hotels, motels, restaurants, theaters, gas stations and sports stadiums. He has not spelled out his proposal yet.

Dirksen said he has substantial Republican support for efforts to change the fair employment section. He has not tested the GOP temper on the public accommodations section.

But the Republican leader has predicted flatly that before any bill is passed it will be amended. He has left the impression that he and Republicans who follow him on the matter will not be willing to support cloture unless it is.

If all senators were present approval of 67 would be needed to curb a filibuster. Sen. Joseph S. Clark D-Pa., said Wednesday proponents can rally only 58 votes at this time.

Lawmaker in Arizona Is Blind

EDITOR'S NOTE—For those with courage and tenacity, blindness is not an overwhelming handicap. The following special report tells of two cases—in Phoenix, Ariz., and Gettysburg, Pa.

By BOB WOOD

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — John Vanlandingham is one of the 80 members of the Arizona House of Representatives.

Like most, he's a Democrat; like some, he's an attorney; like none other, he's blind.

"Being blind may limit your sight," Vanlandingham says, "but it certainly shouldn't bother your vision."

Vanlandingham's vision is to become the attorney general of Arizona in the forthcoming elections.

Thirty-seven years ago on a ranch in Kingman County, Kan., when he was 5—John Vanlandingham was stricken with scarlet fever. The disease brought glaucoma, an ailment that slowly blinded him.

Through the lower grades and into high school, Vanlandingham attended a class for the blind in Kansas City.

"Then I decided it was time to try a public high school. I had to live the rest of my life with the sighted," he explained.

"My younger brother had the job of reading to me from the textbooks," Vanlandingham recalls. "He hated the task and would read as fast as he could, rushing over page after page."

"It was the finest training possible for both of us. He became an excellent reader and I an excellent listener."

Two years later Vanlandingham entered Washburn University at Topeka, Kan., where he received a law degree.

After graduation in 1944, Vanlandingham served a term as Kingman county attorney and then was forced by illness to seek the warmth of Arizona.

With the help of a reader, he passed the Arizona bar examination and entered private law practice.

Elected to the Arizona House in 1962, Vanlandingham became an expert in picking legal flaws in legislation. He would have each bill read once, then once again. By the session's end, he had stored in his mind the basic wording of some 600 bills.

"I hope no one will be too shy in the coming campaign concerning my blindness," Vanlandingham said. "I will not mention this fact, nor will I try to hide it."

"I hope they ask me, 'How the hell can a blind man do the job of attorney general.' By golly, I'll tell them how."

He is married and the father of four children.

Showers splashed across areas from the Ohio Valley to the central Plains. Fairly heavy rainfall was reported in parts of Missouri but amounts were light in most sections.

Clear skies prevailed along the Eastern Seaboard. Temperatures were near zero in northeastern Maine and in the teens and 20s in other sections of New England.

A warming trend was reported from the Carolinas to Iowa and north to the Canadian border.

Sees No Quick End to China, Soviet Quarrel

TOKYO (AP) — A Romanian parliamentarian suggested today that despite mediation efforts by his country, the Chinese-Soviet quarrel is still years away from settlement.

Asked at a news conference whether Romanian Premier Ion Maurer and his associates had made any progress in recent conversations in Peking and Pyongyang, Dr. Stefan Nicolau replied:

"We support a policy of negotiation. The recent mission convinced us that this policy is right. We can't say how many years it will take, but we are sure a solution will be reached some time to the Sino-Soviet differences. Even family troubles are difficult to solve. But we believe there will be a solution some day."

Nicolau is vice president of the Romanian National Assembly.

Candidate Declines to Criticize

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Joe Hubbard, 32, of Russellville, filed today as a candidate for governor and promised "to eliminate segregation as a philosophy emanating from the state house."

Hubbard filed and paid his $5,000 fee in the office of Secretary of State Kelly Bryant. He became the second official candidate, E. T. (Gene) Ridgeway of Norfolk, Va. and Newport filed last week.

Hubbard declined to criticize Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who is expected to seek a sixth term, but he was sharply critical of what he called the "state leadership."

Officer Ernest Gagnon leaped to his feet in the midst of a traffic case Wednesday night and began slapping his thigh.

Attorney Steven Wallace testified he saw the mouse playing around Gagnon's feet shortly before the incident.

While Gagnon was making his explanations to the court, the mouse made its escape.

Fire Destroys Harrie Home on S. Pine

The home of Mrs. Margie Harrie, 311 South Pine, was gutted by fire early last night and it was for all practical purposes a total loss. The blaze of undetermined origin apparently started in the rear of the dwelling and was roaring through the entire house by the time firemen were summoned.

Although walls are standing the building has to be counted a total loss. Little if any of the contents can be salvaged.

Anti-Commie Generals Head Up Rebellion

By FRANK DRUTTO

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Congress declared Joao Goulart shorn of the presidency today and he was reported fleeing from the country, bowing to a two-day rebellion by anti-Communist generals. Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli was sworn in as president.

Wednesday night Goulart fled to his home state in southern Brazil and from Porto Alegre defiantly called the action by Congress a farce, declared himself still president and predicted a popular reaction against the generals.

Today a broadcast heard in Argentina quoted the mayor of Porto Alegre as saying Goulart has decided not to resist, because he wanted to avoid bloodshed.

An Argentine Foreign Ministry official said he had word that Goulart would seek asylum in Montevideo, Uruguay.

A radio station in Porto Alegre called "Chain for Liberty" went off the air shortly before noon and Rio de Janeiro took that to mean Goulart resistance there had been broken. The station had been broadcasting support for Goulart.

Another station in Sao Paulo began announcing that the vanguard of the anti-Goulart 3rd Army from Santa Maria and five other points was converging on Porto Alegre.

Reports circulated that Gen. Amaury Krul, leader of the revolt against Goulart's leftist policies, had sent this ultimatum to the 3rd Army command: Continued on Page Two Accident Abroad Carrier Randolph

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A flight deck elevator on the carrier Randolph broke loose and fell into the ocean Wednesday night, carrying five men and an airplane with it, the Navy reported today.

Three of the men were rescued by the destroyer Holder, which was performing plane guard duty for the Randolph. The two other men were listed as missing. The accident occurred 270 miles southeast of Cape Henry, Va.

Immediately after the elevator broke loose there was an explosion, followed by fire that engulfed the starboard side of the ship, a Navy spokesman said.

He said the flames were put out in 10 minutes. The Randolph did not give the cause of the explosion or the extent of damage to the ship, the spokesman added.

The names of the missing men, as well as those of the rescued men, were withheld temporarily.

mander at Porto Alegre: "Surrender forces guarding Goulart or face an invasion." There was no official confirmation.

Appearing calm, Goulart talked with reporters a few hours after Congress at the inland capital of Brasilia installed Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli as the new president. As president of the Chamber of Deputies, Mazzilli was next in line of succession to the presidency.

There also were reports that Gov. Ido Meneghetti of Goulart's home state of Rio Grande do Sul, was marching on Porto Alegre, the state capital, with 5,000 military-trained state police. Meneghetti fled from Porto Alegre and joined the rebellion when the 3rd Army demanded he surrender his state troops Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new revolutionary regime in Brazil appeared today to be assured of U. S. recognition and full political and economic cooperation — if and when it secures its hold on the country.

The Johnson administration, fearful of being accused of intervention, maintained strict silence on Brazilian developments for the time being.

There was no doubt at all, however, that the White House and the State Department were hoping for rebel success in completing the ouster of Brazilian President Joao Goulart.

An unmistakable indication of official Washington's attitude was given last Monday night when a high State Department official said there was increasing danger of a Communist takeover in South America's largest country.

A spokesman said "the situation in Brazil has steadily deteriorated" since last January.

Goulart fled from Rio de Janeiro as rebel army units and civilian militiamen marched on the city Wednesday, vowing to force him from office and lift "the Red yoke" from Brazil. He flew to Brasilia and then to Porto Alegre, 670 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro.

There, in his home state of Rio Grande do Sul, he claimed support of the strong 3rd Army. A statement read in his name over Porto Alegre radio declared: "The hour of mobilization, the hour of vigilance is here."

The broadcast declared Goulart still is president and would put down the rebellion with powerful military support. It insisted that Goulart still is in Brazil, but did not say he was in Porto Alegre.

His statement called on the people to organize to defend democracy, and urged them to come to Porto Alegre or to go to their city halls and demonstrate.

Radio Liberty, in the industrial city of Sao Paulo, an anti-Goulart stronghold, said there were unconfirmed reports Goulart had fled to Asuncion, Paraguay, and asked for political asylum.

In Brasilia, Auro Andrade, president of the Brazilian Senate, declared the presidency vacant. Mazzilli, next in line because Brazil has no vice president, took the oath of office at 3:30 a.m.

The revolutionary generals met in Rio and announced that calm reigned throughout the country.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union claimed today it can knock out American rocket weapons, including nuclear submarines.

The procedure is technically known as "peritoneal dialysis." It involves continuous running of liquid chemicals, somewhat similar to those used by the kidneys, through one of the tubes into a cavity between two blood-filled membranes within the abdomen which are known as the "peritoneum."

The resulting products are pumped out through the other tube.

Mohon - Cobb Wedding Rehearsal March 26

On Thursday night, March 26 following the Mohon - Cobb wedding rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. James Tony Cobb entertained the wedding party at their home on South Fulton Street.

The dining table was overlaid with a lovely white lace cloth and centered with a large crystal bowl filled with a beautiful arrangement of pink sweet peas. Fruit punch, open-faced sandwiches, cookies and nuts were served.

For the occasion Miss Ruth Ann Mohon wore a taffy crepe sheath with matching accessories. She and her fiancé, Paul Edward Cobb, chose this time to present gifts to their wedding attendants.

Besides the bridal couple, others attending were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mohon, Miss Melissa Mohon, Miss Brenda Hamm, Miss Kay Buffington of Camden, Miss Dora Ann King, James House, Johnny Schooley, Jewell Still, and the Reverend Larry Gaines.

Bridge Club Meets

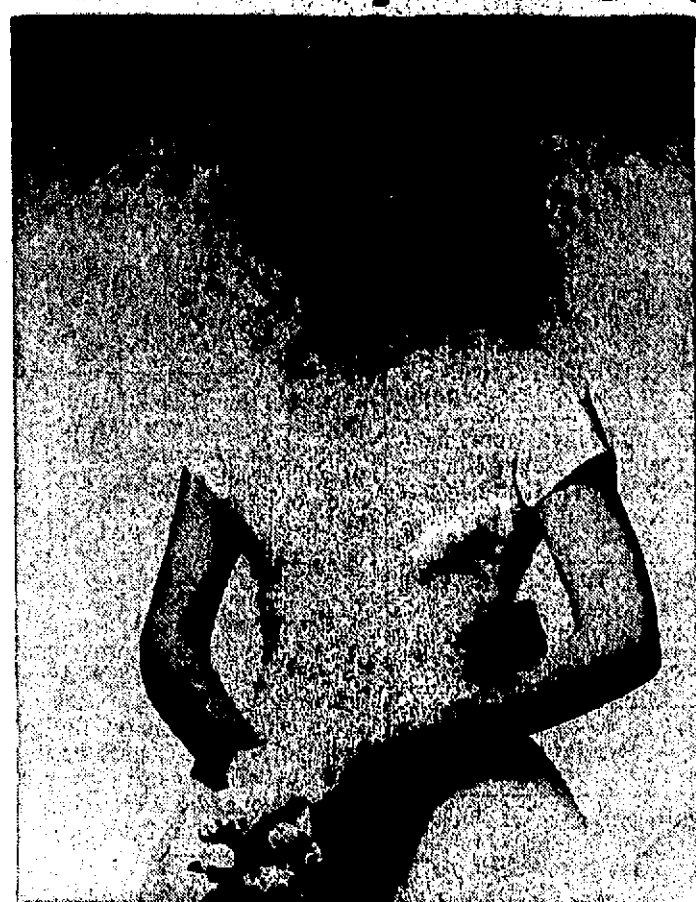

Mrs. Kinard Young entertained her bridge club on Tuesday evening, March 31, and the one club guest, Mrs. Martin Fox, Jr., was also high scorer. Mrs. Joe Watkins was second high, and the game prize went to Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr.

Green potted plants decorated the home where the two tables of players enjoyed an evening of bridge. The hostess served strawberry meringue shells and coffee for refreshments.

Coming and Going

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Campbell and children, Ricky and June of Barksdale AFB, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dudley of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Stuckey and Mrs. Clyde Winemiller went to Heber Springs last weekend to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ray Martin who was in Heber Spring for a few days from Benton Harbor.

Mrs. George Eugene Mann

The wedding of Miss Virginia Ruth Whitley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Day of Texarkana, and Mr. George Eugene Mann, of Sylvan Hills in North Little Rock, was solemnized Easter Sunday afternoon in the chapel of the First Methodist Church, Texarkana, with Dr. Arthur Terry, pastor of the church, officiating. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Clifton E. Blake of North Little Rock.

Mrs. Thomas A. Bain, organist, presented a prelude recital of nuptial music which included "O Perfect Love" by Gurney, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach, and "Spring Song" by Mendelssohn. Following the seating of the mothers of the bride and groom, Miss Linda Sowards, soloist, sang "Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap. The traditional "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner and "The Wedding March" by Mendelssohn were also used.

Vows were exchanged in the soft light provided by two tiered candelabra with votive cups. Baskets of Calla lilies embellished with satin ribbon and greenery framed the altar.

As the chimes pealed three o'clock, the bride entered the sanctuary on the arm of her grandfather, Dorsey C. Whitley, who gave her in marriage. She chose a gown of white silk peau de soie. The molded bodice was fashioned with a decollete neckline, accented by a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. A draping of the peau de soie marked the midriff of the gown; the bouffant bell shaped skirt was enhanced by lily-of-the-valley appliques, in street length. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell below her shoulders from a coil of applied lily-of-the-valley motifs complimented by a face veil. The bridal bouquet was made of gardenias interspersed with lily-of-the-valley, and she carried out the tradition of wearing something old, new, borrowed and blue and added a penny to her shoe for luck.

Miss Ann Bauer of Texarkana served as Maid of Honor and Miss Judy Conner of Daingerfield as bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of pale lilac brocade which featured a scooped neckline. Matching coils of lilac tulle and nosegays of violets, enhanced by lilac streamers tied in love-knots, completed the costumes.

Mr. John Heard of Malvern served the groom as best man. His groomsmen were Mr. Bobby Mitchell of Hope, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Herbert Abbott of North Little Rock.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Day selected a suit of light wool in dusky pink with matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. Mrs. Blake wore a light suit accented by pink accessories and a corsage of feathered pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride. The bride's table was laid with a white floor length cloth centered with an arrangement of white and lilac stock with tall white tapers. A three tiered wedding cake was served by Miss Sandra Carter and Miss Carrie Stewart, both of Texarkana. Miss Ann Mitchell, cousin of the bride, invited the guests to sign the bride's book. Miss Betty Blake, sister of the groom, distributed dainty tulle-ribbed bags. Background music consisting of favorite selections of the bride couple was presented by Mrs. Bain. Mrs. Ernest Bauer of Texarkana and Mrs. Robert Mitchell of Hope completed the house party. Each member wore a corsage of split chrysanthemums in the chosen colors.

For travel, the bride selected a raw silk suit in coral with contrasting accessories. She pinned a gardenia from her bouquet to her shoulder.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Ouachita, Mr. and Mrs. Mann will be at home at 15 East Elm, Fayetteville, where both are enrolled as graduate students at the University of Arkansas.

sex, that they fail to satisfy wives. In a recent test at Duke University, both men and women were given a sex inventory questionnaire, and the women scored far higher than the men. When wives are at fault, it is usually because they are too prudish and inhibited. If both would take the time to read a reliable manual, many of the common sexual difficulties called "incompatibility" would disappear.

Cruelty is surprisingly high on the marital problem list. Some husbands are deliberately cruel to their wives, in the mistaken belief that their wives secretly admire a dominating man. But the majority of sadistic husbands act out of a sense of inferiority.

Feeling inferior to their wives or in their jobs, or to other men they attempt to compensate by being physically aggressive in their marriage. Psychiatrists are of great assistance, but an intelligent and sympathetic wife can do much, if she really wants to save her marriage, by finding out why her husband feels inferior, and helping him overcome it.

Finances are another strong potential source of marital trouble.

Surveys show time and again that it is not the amount of income that causes most friction and trouble, but how it is spent. Here, it is very important for a husband and wife to see eye-to-eye in spending the family income. The solution is this: a family budget, with mutual decisions on all expenditures for extras.

HERE ARE PRINCIPAL CAUSES OF HUSBAND-WIFE DISPUTES

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Dear Dr. Brothers: I am 23 and I have been married a year. I wish I had known more of what to look for in a man before marriage. Some traits I saw in my husband seemed small and inconsequential in our courtship. One, for instance, was drinking a little too much. Now I find these traits are major handicaps to happiness. What are the major handi-

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lane have returned home from Hobbs, N. M., and a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Jesse Pickard, and Mr. Pickard.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Gunter had as Easter guests their daughter, Janet, a student at Stephen F. Austin College in Nacogdoches, Tex., and their son, Jimmy, a student at Texas A & M University in College Station.

Miss Elizabeth Bridewell has returned home from Morrilton and the funeral for her brother, Charles, held there Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Ellis and family, Ft. Smith, went home Tuesday after several days' visit with Mrs. A. H. Futrell.

Mrs. Frank Baggett accompanied her mother, Mrs. Ruth Rettig, home from Memphis Tuesday and is visiting her here.

caps to happiness? What are the major obstacles to a couple's happiness in marriage? — P. D. O.

Dear P. D. O.: You may remember a very searching survey of marriage adjustments and experiences made by Dr. Kinsey some time ago. He studied 6,000 marital histories, and 3,000 divorce cases. One of his most striking conclusions was that the major difference between couples who get divorces and couples who don't is simply that the latter are determined to make a go of their marriage.

If they have that determination, couples stay married by making themselves adjust to each other, and accept situations which would otherwise lead to the divorce courts. What he found, in effect, was that every marriage contains at least some grounds for divorce and that in the one-out-of-every-five couples who do break up their marriage, there was not much original reason for discontent than in the other four who didn't.

So whether a couple stays together or not depends, in the main, on the effort they make to reconcile differences. Now, our psychology studies show that there are several major traits that seriously jeopardize a marriage. I'll list each and suggest what you can do about them.

The first is alcoholism. Some authorities cite this as a leading cause of divorce. Actually, it is a desire to escape from some problem or mental conflict. If either husband or wife is and alcoholic, and it is more likely to be the husband, medical help should be sought. If not, the marriage can be neither happy nor permanent.

Incompatibility is another cause of marital friction. Husband and wife so often know so little about the art and technique of

Many Want Quebec a Free Nation
By FRED COLEMAN
MONTREAL (AP)—You hear all sorts of threats when you talk with some of the terrorists who would like to see Quebec become a separate nation. "If Canada does not want people to die by the thousands, it will get rid of Quebec," says one. Another predicts "there will be violence, you can count on that," if Queen Elizabeth II visits Quebec this fall as planned. Call them Georges and Robert. They represent only a handful of French-Canadians in Quebec who view Canada's English-speaking majority as a colonial power and believe their French-speaking province must fight for independence. Most French-Canadians, working for stronger provincial self-rule within Canada, denounce violent tactics. Only 13 per cent of Quebec's population favor independence, a recent survey showed. Few of those want violence. But in the vast sea of misunderstanding between French and English Canadians the small group of terrorists poses a constant threat of pushing Quebec farther than it wants to go. Neither Georges nor Robert will start violence by himself. They were suspected last year after a 12-week wave of bombings in an English-speaking suburb of Montreal killed one man and maimed another. Both were members of the FLQ or Quebec Liberation Front, the band behind the bombings. They now are marked men. They claim police follow them and tap their telephones. They charge the police beat FLQ members arrested last year. The FLQ is now dead. Its apparent successor, the Quebec Liberation Army or ALQ, is very much alive. The army raided Quebec armories in February and escaped with enough weapons to outfit a small army. Georges and Robert deny they are army members. They say they do not know its size but believe it is organized on a cell basis. Liberation army members are believed to be mostly middle-class youths. Police are mainly concerned with getting to the leaders.

Georges and Robert say they have appealed for financial help in the United States and from student movements in Mexico and elsewhere—but not in Communist countries. "We are not Communists and we do not want the Communists to come in and take over our revolution," Georges said. The majority of separatists seeking an independent Quebec are nonviolent students influenced by Socialist thinking in France.

Braves Capture No. 10 From American Team

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Are the Milwaukee Braves the best team in the American League?

From the way the National League Braves have manhandled American League opposition you get that feeling — but it's just one facet of the supremacy the NL is establishing in inter-league battles with the AL during the exhibition baseball season.

Triggered by Hank Aaron's fifth homer, the Braves won their 10th consecutive game from American League opposition Wednesday, adding the Chicago White Sox to their list of victims, 5-3.

The Braves' list now includes every one of the seven AL teams training in Florida. In 11 games against AL opposition, only the Washington Senators have managed a victory against the Braves—they did it in the first game.

The Braves victory was one of three by NL teams Wednesday on a five-game inter-league program, and lifted the National League's lead to 2-1 in games between the two circuits. National League teams have won 66 games, AL clubs 33.

Behind Milwaukee in the inter-league standings are the San Francisco Giants, 15-2 against AL opposition. National League domination is so complete that even the New York Mets, who are 6-2, have a better percentage in inter-league play than any American League team.

Besides Milwaukee, the Dodgers and Chicago Cubs beat American League opposition Wednesday while the Los Angeles Angels and Baltimore recorded victories against NL teams.

The Dodgers shelled Minnesota pitching for 15 hits—three by batting champion Tommy Davis—en route to a 7-3 victory protected by Larry Sherry's four scoreless innings of pitching. Merritt Raney hit a decisive homer and Ron Santo stroked two doubles and a single in the Cubs' 8-7 decision over the Red Sox.

The Angels provided the day's batting star as outfielder Lee Thomas hit two homers—one a grand slam—and collected six runs batted in during a 10-7 thrumping of the Giants. The Orioles did it with pitching as Bob Roberts and Harvey Haddix combined for a two-hitter in a 4-0 shutout of Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere, the other half of the White Sox' split squad walloped Washington 12-7, Johnny Blanchard and Tony Kubek provided all the runs with homers in the Yankees' 4-2 triumph over Detroit, Tracy Stallard of the Mets shut out Cincinnati 3-0 on six hits and Johnny Lewis hit a game-winning three-run homer in St. Louis' 6-3 victory over Philadelphia.

The Houston Colts collected only two hits off Oklahoma City pitching but managed a 4-0 victory over their Pacific Coast League farm club.

U.S. Olympic Cage Trials Underway

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Olympic Basketball Trials get under way at St. John's University today and never was it more true that "it matters not who won nor lost, but how they played the game."

Of course, that's not exactly what the late Grantland Rice had in mind. In fact, basketball wasn't even a part of the Olympic program when he penned the words in the '20s, but it certainly fits the situation.

The trials consist of a three-day, eight-team tourney that ends Saturday. The teams are made up of all-stars from the NCAA, the NAIA, AAU and armed services. Each team plays three games, but the results don't really matter.

The U.S. Olympic Selection Committee will make its choices by individuals, not teams. They'll select 12 players, plus six alternates, to represent the United States in the Tokyo Olympics this fall.

Selection to the team is virtually the same thing as winning a gold medal. The United States never has lost a basketball game in Olympic competition and will be a prohibitive favorite to take it all again. Since World War II, no team has come closer than 24 points to the U.S. aggregation.

And with the field of 96 candidates in the 12 berths, it appears certain that coach Henry Iba of Oklahoma State should have another winner.

Most of the All-America and Little All-America selections are included.

While none of them are assured of spots on the team, top candidates have to include Walt Hazzard of UCLA, Lucius Jackson of Pan American College, Dave Stallworth of Wichita, Cotton Nash of Kentucky, Cazzie Russell of Michigan, Ron Bonham of Cincinnati, Bill Bradley of Princeton, Willie Shaw of Lane College, Larry Pursifull of the Phillips 66ers and Willie Murrell of Kansas State.

The Noak has three teams of all-stars in the field: the NAIA, representing the nation's small colleges, has one, and the AAU and armed services two each.

Argentine Boxer Dies of Injuries

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Funeral services were scheduled today for Alejandro Lavorante, former Argentine heavyweight boxing champion who died more than a year and a half after collapsing at the end of a fight in Los Angeles.

Lavorante, 27, died Wednesday in Mendoza, never having fully regained consciousness. He was knocked out Sept. 21, 1962, by heavyweight Johnny Riggins and then underwent three delicate brain operations.

"I just kept hoping and praying he would come through," Riggins said in San Francisco upon hearing of Lavorante's death. "He was a good fighter and could have gone on."

The 1962 bout was stopped in the sixth round after Riggins, who appeared to be trailing through the first four rounds, landed three solid rights in the fifth and sixth. Lavorante returned to his corner, then slumped off his stool unconscious.

An emergency brain operation was performed to remove a blood clot. A 3-by-5 inch section of his skull was removed in a second operation to relieve pressure but later was reinserted.

Lavorante remained in Los Angeles until May 4, 1963, when he was taken back to Argentina. He received therapeutic treatment at a clinic, then returned home.

Prior to the Riggins' knock-out, Lavorante had been stopped by Archie Moore and knocked out by Cassius Clay, all within six months. Before the three fights, he had been rated fifth in the heavyweight class.

Retirement Announced by Gene Shue

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gene Shue at one time the highest-scoring guard in the National Basketball Association announced today his retirement from professional basketball.

Shue only native Baltimorean ever to play in the NBA, wound up his 10-year career in his home town. The Baltimore Bullets acquired Shue early this season along with center Paul Hogue in a deal which sent center Billy McGill to the New York Knickerbockers.

Shue's retirement came as no great surprise. He was used sparingly by the Bullets during the last half of the season, and did not dress for a number of games.

"I feel that the time has come for me to leave the active playing end of professional basketball," Shue said.

Shue, who lives in suburban Timonium, said he will continue his association with a Baltimore insurance company.

Shue started his career at the University of Maryland. Shue played five seasons at Detroit, one at Fort Wayne, one-half season at Philadelphia and 2½ seasons with New York before coming to Baltimore.

During his stay at Detroit, Shue became the highest scoring guard in pro basketball history. His highest average with the Pistons was 22.8 points a game.

Finesse Gives Hawks Victory Over Warriors

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—St. Louis finesse keeps the pressure on the muscular young San Francisco Warriors in the National Basketball Association's Western playoff finals and the pressure proved too much, at least in the opening game.

Leading by 20 points four minutes into the second quarter, the Warriors faltered and the heads-up play of such veterans as Richie Guerin, Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit brought the Hawks a 116-111 victory.

So in the West the St. Louis club leads 1-0 and meets the Warriors at the Cow Palace in game No. 2 on Friday night. Boston leads Cincinnati 1-0 in the East with their second meeting tonight in Boston.

Wilt Chamberlain hit 16 points as the Warriors built a 33-20 first-quarter lead and they built it to a 47-27 advantage before the Hawks began surging back.

Hagan held the hot shooting hand with 13 second-quarter points as the Hawks narrowed the count to 58-54 at the half. Pettit took over the guarding of Chamberlain for the period and held him to five.

In the second half it was Guerin's turn and he scored 23 points, bringing his total to 32, second only to Chamberlain's 37. Fourteen of Richie's points came on free throws.

Hagan suffered a bruised knee in the second half and Len Wilkens turned an ankle, but both are expected back in action for the Hawks on Friday night.

Hagan, used sparingly in the second half, scored 23 for St. Louis. Center Zelmo Beaty hit for 24 including 18 in the second half.

Best U.S. Swimmers in Competition

By BO BHARING
BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP)

An Olympic-flavored match between some of the world's best swimmers highlighted today's opening of the Men's National AAU Indoor Swimming and Diving Championships.

The first event, the 400-yard individual medley, pitted West Germany's record-holding Gerhard Hetz against America's top all-round swimmers.

In the second opening-day feature, Roy Saari started his bid for a third straight triple victory against a 1,650-yard freestyle field led by high school boy Don Schollander.

Preliminary competition this afternoon determined the six finalists who will meet tonight in the individual medley finals. The winner of the 1,650 will be determined by comparative times of heats this afternoon and tonight.

Hetz' coach, Janos Satori, said the winner of the medley here could turn out to be the Olympic champion to be crowned next fall in Tokyo.

He named the chief challengers as Rich McGeah of the University of Southern California, who set an American record of 16.4 minutes at last week's National Collegiate Championships; Dick Roth, a Santa Clara, Calif. high school junior, and possibly Ed Townsend, a close runner-up to McGeah last week.

This will be Hetz' first competition in an American meet and first try at the 400-yard distance, though he holds the world's record in the 400-meter medley.

Saari won the 400-yard medley at last year's AAU, but is expected to pass it up this year.

The Saari-Schollander duel features an unorthodox swimmer against a technically perfect swimmer.

Saari, defending champion in the 1,650 and holder of the world's record at 1,500 meters, uses the regular flutter kick only when he shifts to his "speed stroke." Most of the time he uses a sort of a side stroke scissors kick. Schollander sticks to the standard flutter kick with a style regarded as beautifully correct. Schollander, also a Santa Clara high schooler, has been Saari's chief rival in the distance events.

The top six Americans in each event will qualify for Olympic trials next July.

Two Early Favorites for Derby

By KELSO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Hill Rise and Northern Dancer, the early favorites for the Kentucky Derby, probably will get a chance to find out which is the best horse 10 days before the classic Run for the Roses.

Bill Finnegan, who trains Hill Rise, indicated Thursday he is pointing the El Peco Ranch colt for the $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland and an early showdown with Northern Dancer, the even-money favorite to win Saturday's Florida Derby.

Horatio Luro, who trains Dancer, has said he would send his colt in the 1½-mile event at Keeneland.

"We'll just separate the men from the boys then," Finnegan said, adding that if Hill Rise went in the Blue Grass he would not have a race over the Churchill Downs surface before the Derby.

The Blue Grass, at 1½ miles is the last distance prep for the Derby and will be run April 23. The Derby is May 2.

Hill Rise, who Finnegan had considered starting on Saturday's opening-day program at Keeneland, worked out six furlongs in about 1:15 Wednesday. The colt was never pressed and was caught by some clockers in 1:14 3-5.

Finnegan said he presently plans to start Hill Rise April 11 in a 6½-furlong sprint—the $7,500 Spendthrift Purse for 3-year-olds. If the colt, son of Hillary-Red Charm, starts April 11, then he will definitely go in the Blue Grass.

The presence of both Hill Rise and Northern Dancer in the Blue Grass would sharply cut the starting field in that race. As few as five could start.

Barring mishap, those considered probable starters are T.A. Grissom's Susan's Gent, Calumet Farm's Ky. Pioneer, Darby Dan Farm's Saltville and Hill Rise and Northern Dancer.

Did Strike Twice for This Man

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—That old maxim about lightning never striking twice in the same place doesn't hold true as far as the twin double at Jefferson Downs race track is concerned.

Clarence Falcon, a sugar mill worker from Thibodaux, La., collected a $9,213 twin double at the suburban New Orleans half-mile track Wednesday night.

Last spring Falcon cashed in a twin double ticket worth $8,372.40.

They Didn't Need Another Old Packard

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If there was anything they didn't need, said Richard Dewey's wife, it was another old Packard.

They already had six. And only a four-car garage.

But there was this 1932 Packard Twin-Six sports Phaeton sitting up on blocks in the garage down the street, and really they don't make them like that any more.

The fellow who owned it had gone out to California and wouldn't answer his mail, but eventually Dewey won both the owner and his own wife around, and added the car to his collection.

Dewey, who is head of the sociology department at the University of New Hampshire, drove the car through Times Square Wednesday on the way to the International Automobile Show where it will be displayed along with 15 other classic automobiles, beginning Saturday.

The Packard is one of 16 cars voted as the most significant mileposts in the history of the U.S. automobile. The magazine Sports Illustrated collected the 16 from around the country, and will sponsor the exhibit.

They range in age from a 1902 Rambler to a 1955 Thunderbird. Dewey drove the 1932 Packard down to New York from Durham, N.H., about 280 miles, in six hours.

Dewey has no trouble with people zipping past him on the highway. His 12-cylinder beauty, with the original motor almost intact, can keep up. In fact, he has had a flat tire while doing 85.

And to answer the other question he is asked most often, he paid $2,500 for the car two years ago—a steal — and has been offered $10,000.

"It's worth more than that," he said. "But I don't want to sell it. My whole family enjoys it. My wife used to be known for her cooking. Now she is known as the woman who can park a 1932 Packard. It is a fun Kid, 12½, Stockton, outpointed Horralto Danny Valdez, 124 Los Angeles, 10,

Turkey Hunter Bleeds to Death

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP)—A turkey hunter accidentally shot himself in the thigh and bled to death near here Wednesday.

Sheriff Courtney Langston of Lee County said Francis Ramsey, 58, of the Phillips Bayou community 14 miles south of here, was riding a tractor, which apparently hit a rough spot and caused his 12 gauge shotgun to discharge.

car. I don't want it in some museum."

Besides, Dewey says, you meet such interesting people when you own a classic car.

Dewey first became interested in classic cars in 1958, when he was at the University of Illinois.

"Our son Keith was getting old enough for a car, he's 21 now, and we thought if he had something worth taking care of, he wouldn't hot rod it around. We bought a $940 Packard. It cost $125 and then we discovered that we had a classic."

"A classic is a car recognized by the Classic Club for unusual and attractive design. They accept only cars in the 1925 to 1942 period, except for the 1946 and 1947 Lincolns."

"Once we got hooked on classics — and let's face it, I'm biased towards Packards — we eventually got up to seven Packards. We have only three now, including the 1932 Phaeton."

Marilyn Smith Gold Favorite

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Marilyn Smith established herself as a favorite to win the St. Petersburg Women's Open Golf Tournament starting today when she turned in the low card in the pro-am preliminary.

However, she didn't get the $1,000 prize money because her team was disqualified when an amateur member was discovered to have posted a wrong card. Her round of 70, four under women's par on the 6,237-yard Sunset Country Club course, was lowest in the field of 37 pros.

They teed off today in quest of the $10,000 in prize money offered for the 72-hole tournament.

Collectors to Get Free Tax Receipts

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Auditor Jimmie Jones said today he will distribute 100,000 free poll tax receipts to county collectors next week and will keep 50,000 in reserve.

Jones is charged with handling the printing and distribution of the tax receipts under Act 19, the new voter registration law, which is reopening the voting lists to persons who want to qualify without paying the poll tax.

Jones said the free receipts are being printed by the Parkin Printing Co. of Little Rock which held the contract for printing the regular tax receipts. Parkin has promised delivery next week, Jones said, and he will forward the receipt books immediately to the county tax collectors, who will issue them for a 20-day period starting April 11.

Jones said it was difficult to determine how many receipts would be needed.

"In the first place, we don't know how many persons who failed to pay the poll tax will want to register free," he said. "Then there may be some who do not understand that they will be automatically qualified if they paid the poll tax and will get a free receipt although they don't need one."

Jones said he discussed the matter with tax collectors and assessors who were in Little Rock during last week's special legislative session and they agreed that they would need 10 to 15 per cent as many free receipts as the number of paid receipts they issued.

Act 19 is now involved in a test suit before the Arkansas Supreme Court. Pulaski Chancellor Guy Williams held many of its provisions unconstitutional but he did not disturb the provisions under which the free tax receipts will be issued this year.

The possibility exists that the Supreme Court will void these provisions but Jones said he could not afford to wait until the high court rules. Even though the Supreme Court is speeding the case on its docket it is not likely to return a decision before April 13, two days after the stop-gap provisions of Act 19 take effect.

25th Anniversary of Spain's War

MADRID (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish chief of state, has ordered amnesty for prisoners on the 25th anniversary of the end of Spain's civil war today.

The decree affecting both political and criminal prisoners reduces sentences by one-sixth.

Officials said this was the ninth general amnesty order by Franco since 1945.

The number of prisoners was not indicated in the decree but on Jan. 11, officials said the Spanish prison population was 11,395.

Thinks Public Should Be Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said today the public has a right to know whether any senators "have been involved as pawns, partners, or otherwise in Bobby Baker's self-enriching operations."

"It is the responsibility of the Senate itself to see that the public gets this information," he said. "But it looks as though we are going to duck this responsibility."

Case protested in a prepared Senate speech that the Senate Rules Committee's Democratic majority seems determined to close down the Baker probe, although he said "at this stage it has raised more questions than it has answered."

Baker resigned under fire last Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority. The committee has been investigating how he built up a claimed fortune in excess of $2 million while on the Senate payroll at $19,600 a year.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Plastic corneal windows for ailing eyes, plastic glue instead of surgical stitches and a deep-freeze ulcer cure are among medical miracles in experimental stages.

NBC, in one of its occasional "Breakthrough" programs, devoted a stimulating hour Sunday night to explaining in laymen's language some of the more dramatic and promising advances in medicine.

Highlights of three delicate operations were shown. One was a kidney transplant. Another demonstrated use of the new glue—instead of thread and needle—in a skin graft.

The show was fascinating but close-ups of surgery, even in black and white, are not for the squeamish. One look at the close-up of a human eye, and I turned my back and just listened as surgeons replaced a diseased cornea with a tiny piece of plastic.

During the weekend, all networks did their level best to cover the terrible events in Alaska. Radio, keeping up a steady flow of bulletins, was perhaps the most satisfactory as the grim events unfolded.

CBS' half-hour television news special Sunday night pulled the story together more comprehensively.

ABC's "Saga of Western Man" series of four programs wound up impressively Sunday night. It took a look at America and Americans today, having traced the development of the nation.

Writer-narrator John Secondari noted that we spend some $33 billion each year on gambling—more than we spend on education—and there are more bookies in the country than physicians. We spend $22 billion every year on vacations—while 20 per cent of our people are poor and one house in six is substandard.

Imaginative and often beautiful camera work illustrated the text brilliantly. It was a thoughtful, provocative and most effective program.

Sino-Soviet Split Helps in Cold War

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just as the State Department was explaining how good it is to see the fight between the Soviet Union and Red Chinese, the latter hit Soviet Premier Khrushchev again, accusing him of heading toward capitalism.

This Sino-Soviet split is one of the major reasons why, the State Department told Congress Monday, the United States is ahead in the cold war. It listed others.

Taken together they do much to explain why President Johnson and others in and out of his administration talk of changes taking place in the world. The State Department started off this way on the cold war since the end of 1960:

"Over-all, there appear to have been larger gains than losses—"

It lists these reasons:

1. The big showdowns with the Soviet Union have turned out favorably. Examples: Russia's efforts to squeeze the Allies from Berlin failed; Russia's efforts to undermine the authority of the secretary-general of the United Nations; Russia's backdown on the Cuban missile crisis; the signing of the limited nuclear test-ban agreement.

2. The Sino-Soviet conflict. Moscow's control of world communism has been weakened; with Russian help shut off, Red China has suffered economically and militarily. Russia's weakened authority has let the European satellites assert more freedom.

3. The military balance. Russia's drive with its nuclear and space programs has slowed down, the department said, this country's has been stepped up. Said the department: "We have acquired a substantial and superior nuclear deterrent capability."

4. Communist economic setbacks.

The department said in this field "all the countries of the Communist camp have suffered setbacks in recent years," particularly Red China where farming and industry have gone downhill, slowing the military buildup.

5. Eastern Europe moving a bit.

The department sees a "trend toward liberalizing political controls," a growth of nationalism, more independence. But the department cautions against expecting the satellites to cut loose from the Soviet Union.

6. Western Europe safer. Far less danger of a Communist takeover since the 1940s, despite some Allied differences.

7. Communist decline in Middle East. Since 1960 "the ability of local Communist parties to influence national affairs has been on the wane," although the Soviet Union put major effort into this area between 1955-60. But—the department warns against complacency about the Middle East.

8. South Asia as a trouble spot. The department crosses its fingers here, says "probably on balance events of past three years" show net improvement in Indian subcontinent. But—

India and the United States have drawn closer while Pakistan, a U.S. ally, resents American aid to India. Communism now is no threat in either place. But Ceylon is in chaos, anything could happen.

9. The department thinks the line has been held in the Far East. But it seems hardly more than hopeful about Viet Nam.

10. Communism is making new friends and contacts in Africa. Here the department sees the picture mixed, with need for concern in some areas, satisfaction in others.

11. Latin America, a sudden major arena of the cold war. The department thinks, on balance, the non-Communist world is winning the cold war in Latin America, but the tide of battle seems to fluctuate. Brazil is a sore spot.

Labels Save Lives

Every year thousands of young Americans suffer from accidental poisonings. Most of them are under five years of age. Fatalities are kept low because of careful labeling of household chemicals and insecticides and the speed and efficiency of the nationwide network of public Poison Control Centers. They would be even lower.

In an attempt to drastically cut the number of accidental poisonings throughout the country, the Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association is continuing the industry-wide "read-the-label" drive it began last year. The drive is aimed at backing up federal regulations requiring detailed labeling of products.

The Association's president, Earl Brenn, says that the following safety tips, if heeded, could significantly reduce the number of accidents which result from misuse of chemical products.

- Keep pesticides and other poisonous products out of reach of children and pets.
- Read the entire label before opening containers.
- Look for the words "danger," "caution" or "warning" on all container labels. Follow directions for use to the letter.
- Never store such products in cabinets with food packages.
- Store garden insecticides in their original, labeled containers. Apply only in amounts specified on the label.
- Read carefully all instructions for disposal of empty containers.

UN Soldier Returns Fire

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A U.N. soldier came under fire and shot back during a clash between Greek and Turkish Cypriots today in a Nicosia suburb, a U.N. spokesman announced.

It was the first time a U.N. soldier has been involved in an incident since the peace force became operational Friday.

The United Nations declined to give details of the shooting except to say the soldier was British.

U.N. officials said the firing lasted about 10 minutes. Canadian troops who moved into no man's land between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots Friday apparently were not involved in the new incident.

The Greek-controlled police claimed the Turks fired first, but the Turks said the opposite. The United Nations did not fix the blame on either side, or say who fired at the U.N. soldier.

Kidney Transfer Is Successful

7 ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Pretty 15-year-old twin girls who "look out for each other" were reported doing very well today after one donated a kidney to the other in an effort to save her life.

Doctors said they would "possibly know within three days" whether Janice Ottenbacher of Richmond Mich. will be able to resume a normal life.

She and her blonde twin, Joan, were side by side in a room at University Hospital, where doctors Monday transplanted a kidney from Joan to Janice.

Knowing it was her sister's only chance, Joan had insisted on the transplant.

Janice was brought to the hospital Feb. 16 in critical condition after complete kidney failure. An artificial kidney kept her going. She was reluctant to have her sister make the sacrifice of giving up a kidney.

THE WEEPING WIDOW MINE

By Nelson C. Nye

XXVIII

Tubac was sitting down to supper when Charlie and Begetta trudged wearily past the white-plastered adobe church. He left Begetta at the livery happily munching oats, and walked around to the store where the first thing he purchased was four boxes of cartridges, one for his pistol and the rest for the Sharps. Then he ordered up two sacks of flour, salt, sow belly and 50 pounds of beans.

There was a guy in the chair when he stepped through the barber's door. The man's eyes suddenly sharpened. "Aren't you Charlie Medders, the feller that opened—"

But Medders was already out in the street. Heating his axles he took off round a corner, ducked into the livery.

Charlie, all nerves, swung into the runway, discovering the proprietor, perched on a crate, leisurely shaving a stick.

"Didn't take you long to go through our town."

Medders peered at him suspiciously but let the thought go. "You got three mules in that corral out there. What's the rock bottom price on them?"

The stableman scrunched up his eyes for a look. "Hundred apiece on them two browns. That there sand-colored jigger ort to bring another $50. He considered Charlie cagily.

"Make it $225 for the lot."

Charlie scowled toward the backs of those two empty buildings. "Throw in a saddle," he grumbled, "an' it's a deal."

With Begetta snubbed to a porch post he went into the store and hurried out with his provisions, including as an afterthought a gray flannel shirt and a pair of Texas pants for Belita. It was while he was tying these purchases in place that a voice spoke up so close to his elbow that he pretty near jumped clean over Begetta.

Full dark had by this time closed down the view, but in the light shafting out of the storekeeper's windows Charlie found himself confronted by the derby-hatted jasper who had accosted him at the barber's.

"Name is Jennison Jelks," the guy said, boring in, "local correspondent for the Tucson paper. I want to get something authentic on this whopping development your company's issuing stock for."

Medders, who had been fidgeting to get away, relaxed enough from his fright to grumble, s c o w l i n g, suspiciously: "What do you want me to say?"

"Just give us the truth. Something I can tell readers bustin' to get their teeth into notions that haven't stemmed mainly from a desire to sell stock."

"All right," Charley said, beginning to take a grim pleasure from this. "I don't know what's comin' outa company headquarters, but I can state for a fact there ain't been a lick of development done in that mine since I opened it up."

The reporter stared skeptically. "According to the prospectus—"

"That came straight outa the mouth of T. K. Jones!"

"I can't print that," Jelks said, disgusted.

"Why not? You asked for the truth an', by grab, you're gittin' it. The whole thing's a fraud. All that's back of that stock is a bunch of hot air."

"I can quote you on that?"

"Word fer word," Charlie growled. "An' you can furthermore say I give up my seat on the Board, refused any share in the company an' washed my hands of the whole swindlin' works. I'm thinkin' of suing for defamation of character in the unauthorized use of my picture on them certificates."

Jelks peered at Medders rather queerly for a moment. "But Mr. Jones said you fetched in several sacks of this ore."

"He says a heap of things," Medders proceeded to blurt out the whole story of Jones' connection with the Weeping Widow including a description of the various squeeze plays put on by the banker to take over the company and load the market with stock that was strictly pie in the sky. "Them certificates ain't worth a quarter of what you'd git for a trunkful of Confederate shipplasters!"

Jelks looked dubious. He seemed sympathetic but distrustful when he said "You might be telling me the gospel truth but I'm afraid it's no go. The only way my paper would go to press with that story would be over your name."

Charlie, with one of his twisted grins, took the stub of pencil and blackly wrote his name across the bottom of Jelks' notes. "An' while you're at it," he said, "it might pay off fer you to spend a mile of time in the recorder's office. Then ask that great hypochondriac just where this wonderful mine is at."

Four Youths Found Safe in a Cave

JEROME, Mo. (AP) — Four teen-age boys, missing almost 12 hours in a partially explored cave in the Ozarks country of south central Missouri, were brought out safely early today.

Smiling, tired and caked with mud, Kenny Lewis, 15; Gerald Cook, Eddie Ousley and Teddy Miller, 18, all of the Rolla, Mo., area, emerged from the cave with their rescuers at 2:30 a.m.

The rescue team, four students from the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla—and another volunteer entered Bruce Cave late Tuesday night. The youths were found shortly before 2 a.m. about a half mile or so inside the narrow cavern.

"We were lost about an hour after we entered the cave," said young Lewis. "We were pretty scared for awhile but we didn't panic."

The other boys agreed there were some jittery moments. All appeared in good condition. Authorities at the scene said it was considerably warmer inside the cave than outside.

A Project Fire to Be Rocketed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency plans to rocket a Project Fire space-craft downward into the atmosphere next Monday to provide data on what happens to space-crafts when they re-enter the atmosphere at 25,277 miles an hour.

This is slightly higher than the velocity the Apollo ship will attain when returning astronauts from the moon.

An Atlas rocket is to boost the 200-pound Fire craft to an altitude of 521 miles. Then a small Antares solid-fuel rocket will ram the payload back through the atmosphere.

NASA Tuesday postponed for at least a week next Wednesday's scheduled orbital test flight of a high-energy Atlas-Centaur rocket. Officials said ground testing of the ejection system of second stage insulation panels had not been completed.

Shipping Resumed to Alaska Ports

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Shipping to the quake-torn south-central Alaskan area was resumed today as ocean carriers here lifted a temporary embargo on cargoes.

Five carriers had placed the embargo Monday on cargo destined for Valdez, Seward, Anchorage or Whittier—where heavy port damage was inflicted by last Friday's quake and seismic waves.

The shippers said they needed time to work out a program to serve the area. The only remaining usable dock was said to be the one-berth Anchorage city dock.

Alaska Steamship Co.'s Ton-sina was reported to have arrived Monday at Anchorage. It had left Seattle before the quake.

Mobile cranes were used to unload 150 vans and 33 automobiles from the vessel. Regular cranes on the partly damaged dock were not yet usable.

Treasury Bills Rated Important

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—You may never have owned one but U.S. Treasury bills are rated as today's most important money market instruments.

They often serve as a barometer for what your future borrowing costs will be, and how readily you'll find lendable funds when you want them for your business or consumer needs.

There are about $52 billion worth of these Treasury bills outstanding now, compared with around $17 billion at the end of the war. The yields they bring at the Treasury's weekly auctions often foretell the course of interest rates in general, and of the current supply and demand conditions in the money market.

The ups and downs of such auctions over a period of time also often reveal in which direction the money managers want interest rates and the supply of credit to go.

Return on Treasury bills has been strong for months. Part of this was because Washington monetary authorities wanted to discourage any outflow of idle dollars to foreign markets where yields are higher. Another reason for keeping rates high could be a desire by the authorities to head off speculative lever in the stock markets or in business and consumer borrowing.

This week the yields have turned down. One week doesn't make a trend. But dealers in government securities say the Federal Reserve System has been buying up bills fairly heavily of late, thus increasing the demand and pushing prices up—and yields down. The reasons for this activity weren't announced.

The yields work this way: A Treasury bill is a government obligation to pay the bearer a fixed sum on a specific date within a year of issue. They are sold at a discount through competitive bidding. The return is the difference between the face value of the bill and the amount you pay for it.

This week's auction saw the average discount rate on 91-day bills fall to 3.525 per cent from 3.550 per cent the previous week. On 182-day bills the rate fell to 3.710 per cent from 3.740 per cent. Another Treasury bill with a one-year maturity, was not auctioned this week.

The drop in rates seems small to the average person. To government security dealers, to commercial banks, corporation treasurers and some individual investors, who regularly bid for them, the drop is being watched closely to see if a trend develops, and credit policies are changing.

Even at 3.525 per cent the discount rate on the bills is above the 3.5 per cent at which the Federal Reserve lends money to member banks—a discount rate often governing charges by bankers and other lenders to the borrowing public.

The advantages of the auction system of handling this form of Treasury debt are listed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond in this order of economic significance:

In these Treasury auctions money market conditions set the price. The very fact that the bill market—at $52 billion—is so enormous keeps the weekly fluctuations within workable bounds. It is one of the least painful ways for the Treasury to raise the cash it needs. It can add to or subtract from its weekly offerings if its needs rise or decline.

For the Federal Reserve buying or selling these bills is a

Chit Chat Is New Game Hit

CHIT CHAT, HUGH DOWNS' GAME OF CONVERSATION, like Password, You Don't Say and The Match Game, is an ingenious RX for party fun or family amusement, based on words, published by Milton Bradley. This unusual game was developed by TV's most famous conversationalist, Hugh Downs, to help bring back the art of home conversation.

Here, Hugh shows TV star Jonathan Winters and Carol Minnie how Chit Chat bases exciting play on conversation cards. Each player starts off bravely with a sentence based on three words from the grouping of conversation cards he has drawn. Any other player may challenge his statement with the remaining players acting as jury. When the conversation gets intense—as it usually does—the official "controller" has to use a bell provided in the game box to hush hubbub.

Johnson in Snub to the GOP Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has cut off direct communications with Republican congressional leaders in possible miffed reaction to their criticisms of his foreign policy course.

Not since he asked them to the White House Jan. 29 to participate with Democratic colleagues in a discussion of the Panama crisis has the President talked to either Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois or House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

This provides sharp contrast with Johnson's demonstrated desire in the first critical weeks of his presidency to court Republican support for his actions.

In that period, the President often called Dirksen on the phone a half dozen times a day, summoned him to the White House frequently and talked over with him many of the legislative and other problems that were arising.

When an anonymous White House source criticized Halleck in December for blocking speedy House action on the foreign aid bill, Johnson had Halleck in for lunch. He apologized for the attack.

Now, however, the phones have gone silent and the White House invitations, informal and otherwise, have ceased.

Dirksen and Halleck are inclined to attribute the two months' hiatus in communications to the fact that it is a presidential election year. Their attitude is that they can get along very well without being consulted by a Democratic chief executive.

Highly placed Democrats are convinced that developments at and since the Jan. 29 meeting have convinced Johnson that the Republicans intend to try to make political capital out of his troubles in Panama and elsewhere.

The meeting was described by participants as disappointing, so far as it concerned development of any unity of opinion on the Panama situation.

Subsequently, Dirksen and Halleck have been hammering away in GOP leadership statements at Johnson's handling of Panama and other international matters.

This was the sort of political barrage the late President John F. Kennedy used to take in stride.

Kennedy established a pattern of ringing up Dirksen a couple of times a week and inviting him to come by for a late afternoon drink. In these sessions, the President tried out some of his ideas on Dirksen.

"Once in a while I would tell him, 'Mr. President if you do that, I'll get up on the Senate floor and denounce you from stem to stern,'" Dirksen said. "He would just die laughing."

Now, however, the laughter seems to have died out of presidential relations with the opposition in Congress.

Gets Arkansas Traveler Award

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Lt. J. David Wade, 32, commander of the 2nd Air Force at Jarksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La., received Tuesday an Arkansas Traveler certificate.

Secretary of State Kelly Bryant awarded the certificate, and Wade said he planned to move to Heber Springs when he retires in about nine years.

Wade was in Little Rock to investigate the crash last Friday of a B47 jet bomber. Four Air Force men and two boys were killed by the crash.

The 2nd Air Force area covers 20 bases and 24 wings in the central United States.

Seven in Family Perish in Fire

BEVERLY, Mass. (AP)—Fire swept through a two-family house early today, killing a father, mother and their five children.

Killed were John Crandell, 40, a bakery employee; his wife, Barbara, 38, and their children, Kathie, John Jr., Richard, Stephen and James Crandell. The children were between 2 and 10 years old.

The children were trapped on the third floor of the three-story house. Their parents apparently died trying to rescue them. The parents occupied a bedroom on the second floor.

Three firemen were injured, none seriously.

Negro School March Broken in Florida

By DON MCKEE

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Police quickly broke up another march of Negro school children today and the civil rights fight that sent the mother of the Massachusetts governor to jail raged on in this ancient city.

About 60 Negro pupils, some in their early teens, were stopped by city and county police with trained dogs shortly after they had moved out of the Negro district.

About 40 were loaded into a truck and hauled off to jails already crowded with Negroes and whites arrested earlier after demonstrations which began over the Easter weekend.

The 20 others, guarded by policemen holding the dogs, danced and clapped in the street and sang. Some of the more boisterous were loaded into a car and taken away while policemen smiled and waved goodbye to them.

Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, the 72-year-old mother of Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, declined breakfast today after spending "a good night" in jail for her efforts on the Negroes' behalf.

"Everybody has been fine," said the tall, white-haired wife of a retired Episcopal bishop. "I had a good night."

Racial demonstrators often refuse to eat in jail and Mrs. Peabody, one of more than 100 persons arrested Tuesday in city of ancient racial barriers, joined the others in turning down a breakfast of sausage, grits, coffee and bread.

Police began leading white and Negro demonstrators out of the stockade, across the street from the jail, today and escorting them to the County Court for arraignment.

Among the first 16 to go were the Rev. William England, 32, Boston University chaplain, and the Rev. Donald Clark, 31, director of the Rolling Ridge Methodist Conference at North Andover, Mass.

Held along with night sticks and police dogs, the 18—eight white and eight Negro—could hear those inside the jail singing and joined in with them.

Mrs. Peabody indicated that she planned to go to court today and obtain her release on bond, but she didn't know when that would be.

She was charged with trespassing and violating a state law on undesirable guests when she and several Negro women companions declined to leave a segregated motel dining room. Her bond was set at $300. She was 4th graf 128

More Criticism for Farm Bureau

WASHINGTON (AP) — President James G. Patton of the National Farmers Union has joined Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in criticizing the American Farm Bureau Federation for its opposition to the administration's wheat and cotton bill.

This bill has been passed by the Senate. The House may act on it a week from today.

The Farm Bureau has contended the legislation is not wanted by most producers of these crops, would increase government control over agriculture and add to consumer prices of bread and bakery products.

In a statement, Patton said the Farm Bureau "does not act in the best interest of its farmer members." Freeman leveled similar criticism at the big farm organization last week.

"A multi-billion dollar income disaster facing the farm families of America, more than any other single thing, is blocking the revitalizing of the nation's economy being sought by the President," Patton said.

Segregation Grudgingly Giving Way

By ROSS M. HAGEN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Racial segregation—a way of life in Birmingham for nearly 90 years—is grudgingly giving way.

A year ago, Birmingham was properly called the most segregated big city in America. About the only place Negroes had public equality with whites was on city buses.

Today, golf courses, parks and other city-owned facilities, three schools and downtown lunch counters are integrated. A biracial committee, set up by the city government, is working at resolving racial issues.

Underscoring the change was an Easter service in Municipal Stadium where 35,000 white and Negro worshippers sat together to hear evangelist Billy Graham. The crowd was the largest integrated audience ever assembled in Alabama. Not one incident marred the service.

The change didn't come easily. About 3,000 persons went to jail during racial demonstrations last spring. Seven Negroes were killed in bombings and racial strife accompanying the bombings. Nearly 100 policemen and firemen were injured trying to maintain order.

Now city fathers are optimistic. Glenn E. Taylor, director of the committee of 100, industry - seeking arm of the Birmingham area Chamber of Commerce, commented: "Our racial problems are behind us and Birmingham's image, at least industrially, is vastly improved over last year."

Mayor Albert Boutwell said, "I have never been so sure and confident that Birmingham is well on its way to solving local problems at the local level and making way for greater economic progress in the immediate future."

There are still rumblings of discontent from Negro leaders. The Rev. Edward Gardner first vice president of the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, said he is not completely satisfied with the present situation but he doesn't think "we'll have anything this year like we did in 1963."

He criticized the group relations subcommittee of the biracial group. "Nothing has been done," he said. "It seems as if they can't seem to get a quorum. But at least the lines of communication are open to City Hall."

The Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth of Cincinnati, president of the organization, said Negroes would seek to consolidate the gains of 1963—"we will seek to make Birmingham a totally desegregated city."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The swollen ranks of television's daytime game and panel shows were increased by two Monday, "Get the Message," on ABC, and "Jeopardy" on NBC.

"Get the Message" is off the Goodson-Todman production line and shows close kinship to other shows packaged by the firm, particularly "Password."

The object of the game is to guess familiar words and phrases from written clues. There are two teams. Each has one studio contestant who does the guessing and two "celebrities" who dream up the clues.

The show seems mildly diverting and probably will help a lot of housewives get through a big pile of ironing quite painlessly.

"Jeopardy" is a quiz show in reverse. Audience contestants pick their categories and are confronted with answers to which they must propound questions.

CBS' "I've Got a Secret" entertainingly imported ex-Beatle Peter Best for Monday night's show. But the nervous young man who was Ringo's predecessor on the drums, blew his one gag line.

Best said he left the group two years ago. When host Garry Moore asked if he had any regrets, he replied: "It only hurts when I cry." Moore tried to change "cry" to "laugh" by repeating the line. Hand held in anguish to his brow, Best left the stage.

Earlier he told this reporter that he was a Beatle in the lean, preface days, and his resignation was not entirely voluntary. Recommended tonight: "Changing Matilda: The New Australia," NBC, 10-11 (EST) — public affairs special with Chut Huntley narrating.

Canned Mushroom Gravy Sauces Egg Croquettes

It's amazing how canned convenience foods can pep up Lenten meals. Take, for instance, canned mushroom gravy. Ready to use from your pantry shelf, it's the perfect meatless accompaniment for eggs in any shape or form.

Popular egg croquettes are extra moist and flavorful when made with canned mushroom gravy. Take 1/4 cup gravy right from the can... mix with the hard-cooked eggs and seasonings. Roll the croquettes in crushed walnuts and bread crumbs and brown in butter. Delicious... but here's the best part. The remaining gravy is heated with sweet pickle relish and mustard for zip... and poured over the croquettes. It makes a wonderful dinner the family will love.

Garnish the platter with spiced peaches. Serve with a tossed salad, brown and serve health rolls, and whipped gelatin with custard sauce.

EGG CROQUETTES WITH MUSHROOM GRAVY

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) mushroom gravy
8 finely chopped hard-cooked eggs
1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1/2 teaspoon salt
Generous dash pepper
2 cup finely chopped walnuts
1/4 cup shortening
1 small clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
Thoroughly mix 1/4 cup gravy with eggs, bread crumbs, onion, parsley, and seasonings. Form into 6 croquettes. Roll in nuts and additional bread crumbs. In skillet, brown slowly in shortening until heated. Meanwhile, in saucepan, cook garlic in butter; add remaining gravy, relish, and mustard. Heat, stirring now and then. Serve over croquettes. Makes 3 servings.

INSPIRED, Hot Glazed Biscuits

THESE delicious little bunny-inspired biscuits, hot from the oven, offer a surprise treat no matter when they're served the year 'round. Made with cake flour and glazed with orange juice, these excellent biscuits are perfect for a child's party, an afternoon tea (or coffee) or for just making breakfast a gay special occasion.

ORANGE BISCUIT INSPIRATION

2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons shortening
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1/2 cup milk
4 tablespoons granulated sugar
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1/4 teaspoon (about) orange juice

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add orange rind and blend. Add milk and stir with fork until soft dough is formed (about 20 strokes). Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 20 turns. Pat or roll lightly 1/4 inch thick.

Cut the following circles for each bunny: one 2-inch circle for body; one 1-inch for head; and two 3/4-inch for ears. Arrange on ungreased baking sheet to form bunnies, placing each 1-inch circle above the 2-inch body circle, moistening edges of circles with milk where they meet. Pinch edges of each 3/4-inch circle to make ears and mount on head. With leftover dough, form small balls and place at lower edge of each body circle for tail.

Prepare a thin glaze by combining sugar and orange juice. Brush lightly over the bunnies. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 8 to 10 minutes, or until done. Serve hot. Makes about 10 bunnies.

Plan Could Change Co. Government

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Economic Expansion Study Commission, "keeping an open mind" and seeking "a free flow of ideas," considered proposals Monday that could drastically change state government.

The commission is holding a two-day idea session at the Graduate Institute of Technology, trying to find ways to improve the state's economy. It was created by the 1963 General Assembly to do this job.

Among the ideas considered Monday:

Replacing the quorum court with a smaller legislative body, such as a board of supervisors. Stripping county judges of judicial powers and some legislative powers.

Combining the offices of county assessor, collector and treasurer, using a single machine to compute all county taxes. Permitting each county to choose its own form of government, and, Abolishing the county fee system, putting all officers on a direct salary.

The commission has until October to sift ideas presented to it and come up with recommendations to the 1965 General Assembly. State Rep. G. D. Smith of Lincoln County, a commission member, urged participants in the two-day session not to fear

Easter Bunny Better Than Santa

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—H. F. Sharp of Richmond was window-shopping downtown Sunday morning when a stranger approached.

"I'm the Easter bunny," the stranger said to Sharp.

"I'm Santa Claus," Sharp replied. The stranger stuck a $1 bill in Sharp's pocket and meandered away.

Quake Takes Out the Labor Board

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A National Labor Relations Board case at Valdez, Alaska, apparently has been closed out by Friday's disastrous earthquake and seismic waves.

Ross McCoy, who had filed unfair labor practice charges against Valdez Dock Co. and North Star Stevedoring Co., was listed among the presumed dead. Thomas P. Graham, NLRB regional director, said there probably was "not much left" of either firm.

controversy in making suggestions. The commission examined, besides county government problems, urban and municipal difficulties, the cost of government, state and federal financial plans and state resources. The session ends today.

People in the News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WESTERHAM, England (AP) — Lady Churchill, Sir Winston's darling Clementine, celebrated her 79th birthday at a family party today.

Her secretary said: "Lady Churchill is extremely well. She and Sir Winston have been spending the Easter holidays at Chartwell and they're both very much in the holiday mood."

The secretary said the party at the Churchills' country home was strictly a family affair.

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Rep. Albert Rains, 62-year-old Democrat who's retiring from his seat in the House, says he'd rather see Alabama vote Republican than support Gov. George Wallace's alter of un-pledged presidential electors. Votes for unpledged electors are wasted ballots, the Alabama congressman told a gathering at Auburn University.

HONG KONG (AP) — Sir Robert Black, governor of Hong Kong for more than six years, left by plane today for London and retirement.

More than 20,000 persons packed a soccer stadium Tuesday for a public farewell to Black. He will be succeeded by Sir David Trench.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Peter Sellers' bride, Britt Ekland, has been sued for $1.5 million by 20th Century Fox, which accuses her of breach of contract.

The suit, filed Tuesday, also named Sellers. Miss Ekland walked off the London set of "Guns of Batisti" March 20 and flew to Hollywood to join Sellers. She said she departed because of illness.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. James F. Collins, Army commander in the Pacific until his recent retirement, becomes president of the American Red Cross today.

Collins succeeds Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, who retired Tuesday after heading the Red Cross for seven years.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A thief with all the symptoms of a tape worm broke into the kitchen of the Young Elementary School overnight Tuesday. Police listed the following items missing: 45 pounds of hamburger, 16 dressed chickens, 20 pounds of sugar, 8 pounds of graham crackers, 2 pounds of canned cherries and a pound of potato chips. Total value: $39.06. Nothing else was taken.

Fgn. Policy Patterned by Truman

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This country's basic foreign policies and attitudes toward communism after World War II came in President Truman's time and have been pretty well fixed and frozen since.

In that immensely creative period, when Truman decided nothing could stop Stalin's aggressive onrush except force and determined opposition, three policies were begun:

Aid to other countries (Greece, Turkey, the Marshall Plan); military alliances (NATO); and stiff-arming communism everywhere (the Berlin airlift and the Korean War).

What has happened since then — under Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson — has simply been an extension of those programs in one way or another in Europe, Africa, Asia, Middle East and Latin America.

This week Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., in a Senate speech, sought to stimulate fresh thinking to meet new conditions and to abandon old attitudes and policies if they are outdated.

In only a few instances in his review of the world did he attempt to offer either specific solutions or new approaches. Nevertheless, he has been attacked in Congress for what he said.

Several Republicans and Democrats in the House Thursday went after him with this kind of criticism: that his position "amounts to a surrender on the installment plan to Communists all around the world."

It has become an American cliché — since Truman's time — that anything less than total rigidity toward communism everywhere and under all circumstances is appeasement. Fulbright would call it a "myth."

He said communism under Premier Khrushchev is not exactly the same as under Stalin and that changes have taken place within the Communist world which once had a solid front. For example: The Russian-Red Chinese split.

Fulbright's point was to take advantage of changes. But to do it he said, requires re-thinking about traditional (since Truman) American ideas on how to deal with communism.

He could not have failed to know beforehand his speech would not be completely popular for he warned President Johnson to stop trying to make popular foreign decisions and make unpopular ones if necessary.

No one knows better than Fulbright, who was in the Senate in the days of Sen. Joseph McCarthy and was one of the few men there to express contempt for the Wisconsin Republican, how men in public life can be frightened into silence or conformity by fear of public disapproval.

Some of the American policy since Truman's time — sticking to fixed positions — was necessary in that intense period of the arms race between this country and Russia. Some of the intensity melted with the agreement on the limited nuclear test ban.

Fulbright has not always been right. He angered a lot of people, and no one more than Truman, when the Republicans won control of Congress in the 1946 elections and he suggested Truman quit so a Republican could succeed him.

But he was far-sighted in 1943, when he was a freshman in the House and got it to pass a resolution saying the United States should join a world organization to keep the peace. It did just that two years later when it joined the United Nations.

Some of Fulbright's proposals are not always completely blue-printed. But as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he has been one of the few men in Congress probing for new approaches.

As he said Thursday night in a television interview, he has for 10 years been making speeches similar to the one this week, analyzing foreign affairs as he sees them.

Adjustment for Grower Wheat Prices

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grower prices of wheat still have a big downward adjustment to make by the time the 1964 crop marketing season opens July 1.

An Agriculture Department farm price report showed that growers received an average of $1.85 a bushel in mid-March. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has said these prices will decline to around $1.26 if the administration's wheat plan, now awaiting House action, loses in Congress.

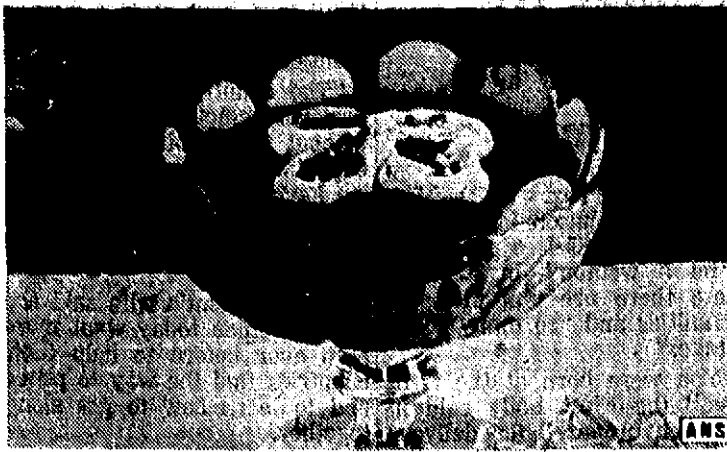

If the plan wins, the farm average is expected to drop to around $1.30. But income of farmers who restricted wheat plantings would be supplemented by payments from processors and exporters.

Between mid-February and mid-March, prices of cattle and cotton went up, but were offset by declines in prices of wheat and dairy products.

Farm product prices in mid-March reflected 77 per cent of the parity price goal of federal farm-aid programs, the same as a month and a year earlier.

Beef cattle prices increased from $18.10 to $18.60 a hundredweight between mid-February

Coffee-Chocolate Dessert Made Ahead

THE WONDERFUL FLAVORS OF COFFEE AND CHOCOLATE are combined in this easy-to-make dessert. Make it early in the day when you're having people in for bridge or to watch a special TV program... it serves eight generously. Serve hot decaffeinated coffee black, or with cream and sugar, as the perfect accompaniment.

REFRIGERATOR DESSERT

1 square unsweetened chocolate	1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 egg whites	1 1/2 cups unsifted confectioners' sugar
1/4 cup unsifted confectioners' sugar	3 tablespoons milk
2 egg yolks	1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup unsifted confectioners' sugar	1 cup chopped pecans, toasted
1/2 cup butter	Vanilla wafers
1 tablespoon instant Sanka Coffee	Sweetened whipped cream
	Additional toasted chopped pecans

Melt chocolate over very low heat. Cool. Meanwhile, beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add 1/4 cup of the confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating well after each addition; continue beating until peaks will form. Beat egg yolks. Add 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar; beat until well blended.

Cream the butter. Sift instant coffee, salt, and remaining 1-1/2 cups confectioners' sugar. Add to butter and mix well. Blend in chocolate, milk, and vanilla. Fold in egg yolk mixture and pecans. Fold in egg white mixture. Pour the chocolate mixture into a serving bowl. Chill until set — about 3 hours. Arrange wafers around sides of bowl. Garnish with whipped cream and additional pecans. Makes about 3-1/2 cups, enough for 9 servings.

Coin Crisis Seen Within Two Years

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The coin shortage will reach a crisis stage within the next two or three years.

This is the view of government officials who direct the manufacture and distribution of billions of coins and it is based on the assumption that demand will continue to expand at an incredible rate.

How soon will the shortage have a noticeable effect on business? Will it be a serious inconvenience for the public?

"We believe that some banks are already stocking up on coins for next Christmas," a Treasury official said.

Of the 55 billion coins manufactured by the government since 1792, about 44 billion have been minted in the past 25 years. On the average, a coin stays in circulation for 25 years.

Production has been stepped up sharply in the past few years and it will reach 4.1 billion pieces in the business year which ends next June 30. If Congress approves money for overtime pay and some additional equipment, the total will reach 4.6 billion in fiscal 1965.

"If there were no shortage, we would have 2 billion coins on hand and 2 billion in the distribution pipeline," a Treasury official said. "Now we have virtually none."

"In other words, we're a year behind right now. And it takes three years to build a new mint."

The mints at Philadelphia and Denver are operating at near capacity although the Philadelphia output can be increased by 100 million coins a year if the present three shifts are extended through weekends. An additional 500 million coins a year can be turned out at Denver with the addition of equipment.

Government officials are not sure why demand has increased so enormously in the past three years.

Some believe that vending machines are the culprits since they keep change out of circulation for days or weeks. The vending machine companies say their business has not caused the shortage.

There seems to be a growing belief that the coins are in the hands of collectors. The number of numismatists has been estimated at 8 million to 12 million.

Rice Market Loss Is Offset

WASHINGTON (AP) — Loss of the once large markets for U.S. rice in Cuba has more than been offset by increased outlets in Africa, Asia and Western Europe.

An Agriculture Department report showed today that exports during 1963 reached the record high level of 1,195,000 metric tons of milled rice. The previous record was 1,050,000 tons in 1962.

During the 1950s, Cuba took about one-third of the American exports. Now none is going to that country. Exports to Africa last year totaled 195,400 tons, which were four times the exports for the 1950-60 average.

and mid-March. But they were $1 lower than a year earlier and $2 lower than the 1957-59 average. They also were $6.10 below the parity price goal.

India Makes Big Change in Policy

NEW DELHI (AP) — In a major reversal of policy, the Indian government announced today it will free Kashmiri nationalists it imprisoned because of their militant fight to separate the disputed Himalayan state from India.

Among those to be released is Sheikh Mohammed Abdullah, the Moslem "Lion of Kashmir" whom Prime Minister Nehru's government ousted from the premiership of the state 11 years ago and jailed.

Lal Bahadur Shastri, minister without portfolio and Nehru's right-hand man, told Parliament Abdullah and his followers would be released in an effort to "stabilize" the tense political situation in Kashmir. He didn't say how many would be freed.

Shastri's statement came six days before a scheduled meeting of Indian Home Minister G. L. Nanda with the home minister of neighboring Pakistan which long has charged Abdullah's detention was an example of Hindu India's repression of the Kashmir people most of whom are Moslems.

Pakistan disputes India's claim to Kashmir.

Light Station Is on at Juneau

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The light station at Cape St. Elias on the tip of Alaska's Koyuk Island — where Coast Guardman Frank O. Reed lost his life — resumed normal operations today.

The station was knocked out of service for three days by the earthquake and tidal waves.

The Coast Guard reported Reed, 22, of Olmsted Township, Ohio, near Cleveland, suffered a broken leg in Friday evening's quake. He was swept out to sea and lost when a wave engulfed him and companions trying to help him back to the station. The others escaped.

Reed, an engineman third class, had been in the Coast Guard nearly four years. He was scheduled for discharge in April.

Soybean Now Valuable to State Farms

By J. C. TILLMAN

Associated Press Writer

"Back in 1927, my father planted the first soybeans in this area. Even with the inferior varieties, we got 20 to 30 bushels an acre."

"Now, we're averaging only 17 to 23 bushels from the finest varieties. Why?"

This question, posed by Jake Hartz Jr. of Stuttgart, is one of many for which farmers in at least four states are organizing to seek answers.

The move to organize state soybean associations is the beginning of the farmers' assessment of their future in one of the oldest crops known to man.

Some 250 farmers met recently at West Memphis to lay plans for an Arkansas Soybean Association. Mississippi and Minnesota have such organizations and Louisiana is planning one.

Hartz, past president of the American Soybean Association, and Hays Sullivan of Burdette, Ark., current ASA president, are among leaders in the move to form a state group.

Its purpose would be multiple. And eventually, a tri-state association may be formed, with full-time employees to promote the soybean industry.

One purpose of the organization would be to "keep soybeans out of the government's hair" as a surplus crop. Another would be to promote advancement of chemistry, the science of finding more uses for such crops as soybeans.

These uses are already varied. From the bean comes lecithin, a basic food ingredient, edible oils, and flour. Soybean meal is partly responsible for better flavor in steaks.

Soybean meal is used in making the germ-killing streptomycin. The meal is also used in making paper coatings, adhesives, insect sprays and dozens of other products.

The state associations would work something on the order of the highly successful Rice-Council, an organization which devotes itself to all aspects of rice farming.

The soybean group would work to educate farmers in better methods of producing beans, using higher quality varieties; inform them of current national demand for their crop; work to keep the market stable and promote increased use of soybeans and soybean products.

For instance, Hartz said, not more than 125 man-years of research have been devoted to the soybean—about 10 per cent of that devoted to cotton, corn and beef.

"This has been a cash crop to the farmer," Hartz said, and he is satisfied. But it has also become so important to the economy of both the farmer and the nation that the farmer needs to be more aware of opportunities.

"Some of them have been sitting aside thinking they can produce all they want to. This may create a surplus and a poor market."

Most of the soybean promotion is now being financed by processors. State organizations would bring the farmer into the picture, requiring that he pay part of the cost.

The American Soybean Council has an annual budget of about $4 million and works in 53 countries.

The state groups would extend this work.

Hartz and others hope that

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Why do they do it?" Many a television viewer asks the question on seeing distinguished actors making a pitch on a commercial.

The answer appears to be elemental. They do it for money. How else could an actor earn $50,000 for one day's work? Advertisers will pay that much for top names.

Take the example of Edward G. Robinson. He remains one of Hollywood's most employed actors. Yet he can be seen all over the television channels savoring and praising an instant coffee. Two other noted stars, Barbara Stanwyck and Claudette Colbert, are also promoting the same product.

Robinson explains: "I hesitated about accepting the offer at first. I had never done anything that commercial, not even when I had my own radio show, 'Big Town.' But I saw nothing wrong in it—as long as the ad was in good taste and I believed in the article that was being sold."

"The remuneration was very good, and that is always a consideration. Everything was done with care. Three or four men came out from New York to supervise the filming. A replica of my men was made at a studio complete with some of my paintings. The shooting required a full day. All in all, it was a pleasant experience."

The use of well-known actors in commercials has been increasing. Some performers with instantly recognizable faces—Joe E. Brown, Buster Keaton, etc.—do their selling unbilled. Others get credit for their names and, as added incentive, the movie or television series they are appearing in.

Some stars are paid a flat fee for their work, others receive a payment for each play. This can amount to big money, even for unknown performers. One actress, who has failed to make a name for herself in the dramatic realm, has earned $20,000 a year from a soap commercial.

There are some who believe that it is undignified for stars to sell products. Spencer Tracy, Cary Grant and others have turned down fabulous offers for commercials.

through the efforts of the state groups, "We can meet competition, work our own market and keep the government uninvolved."

Soybeans were first described by the Chinese in 2838 B.C., but to be more aware of opportunities.

At the close of World War II America was the world's largest importer of oils and fats. Soybeans have made it the largest exporter.

The nation now produces more than 550 million bushels of soybeans annually on 20 million acres of land. The crop is valued at more than a billion dollars yearly.

Illinois leads in production with 125,041,000 bushels, Iowa is next with 62,779,000, Indiana 51,915,000; Minnesota 51,303,000; Missouri 41,190,000 and Arkansas, 32,801,000.

Thinks Its Good to Be a Woman

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson told college girls today "this is a good time to be a woman"—in a world where there are unlimited opportunities and "so many roads to take."

"You were born at the right time," the First Lady said in a speech prepared for delivery at Texas Woman's University, where she received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

"It is a good time to be a woman because your country, more now than at any time in its history, is utilizing your abilities and intelligence."

"The country does not exist, however remote, where you are without the revolution of rising expectations," she noted, "and we have long since passed the time in the United States when men alone can be summoned to great duties."

The President's wife said she thinks women today want more than ever before to help their countries find the way to peace and to learn how to get along together.

Delivering her convocation address in cap and gown after participating in an academic procession, the First Lady urged

Cuban Thinks Talk Held Possibilities

GENEVA (AP)—Cuba's economics minister, Ernesto (Che) Guevara, said today that Sen. J. William Fulbright's speech on Cuba could have changed the atmosphere between Havana and Washington if Secretary of State Dean Rusk had not rejected it.

"The most important thing is that Sen. Fulbright recognizes the stability of the (Cuban) revolution. In the United States this is necessary. The idea that Cuba is here to stay is growing in the United States," Guevara told a news conference.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, last week suggested the United States revise its thinking about Cuba and other communist nations. The next day Rusk said the Arkansas Democrat's speech did not represent U.S. policy.

"We don't know about the internal mechanics of the U.S. government," Guevara said. "Fulbright is highly representative. But Rusk is also representative. The face is that the next day Rusk rejected (Fulbright's ideas), and we have to be objective."

Accused Robbers Face More Charges

THORNTON, Colo. (AP)—Two accused bank robbers faced additional charges today—being litterbugs.

A policeman who arrested William P. Kelly, 36, and Dennis Glidewell, 27, said he spotted them burning money bags taken in a $4,000 robbery last Wednesday at the Wiley, Colo., State Bank.

Bank robbery charges were filed by the FBI. Local authorities added the charges of littering.

Recipe of the Month

If winter's end has brought with it an end to your ideas of what to serve for dinner, read on! Here's a new recipe certain to spark your interest in meal preparation and perk up your family's appetite, too. Refrigerated crescent rolls wrapped round slices of ham, baked and sauced with spicy raisin pie filling is the dish we speak of. The flaky rolls, the same ones you often serve as a dinner accompaniment, this time take honors as the main dish. The ham slices can debut in a second act from Sunday's roast, or, if you wish, you can try the ready-to-eat boiled ham slices. Serve the crescents and their raisin sauce topping piping hot—with whipped sweet potatoes studded with puffs of marshmallows, peas and a bright citrus salad. There's no nicer or easier way of greeting Spring, than with a new supper dish like this!

HAM CRESCENTS WITH RAISIN SAUCE

2 cans refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
16 slices ready-to-eat ham
1 can (2 1/2 cups) raisin pie filling

Separate and unroll crescent dough into 16 triangles. Place a ham slice, folded in half, on each triangle. Roll up as for crescents. Bake at 375° for 10 to 15 minutes, until golden brown. Heat pie filling; serve with crescents. Serves 8.
